EDMONTON BULLETIN, JULY 23rd, 1894.

EMIGRANTS.

The Brandon Mail and Winnipeg Tribune of recent dates mention the arrival at those places of a party of disgrusted emigrants from the Edmonton district. The Mail places the number at 15 families and the Tribune at 3, the latter giving the names. No doubt it is the same party, as the date of their arrival at Winnipeg is about a week later than that of their arrival at Brandon. The Tribune gives the names of the families as Johnson, Long and Wilder, and says that they left Edmonton on May 26th. They came from Kansas and Nebraska in 1892 and 1893 and say they left, says the Tribune, "because the season is too short, prices too low and the freight charges awful. Edmonton wheat they say will not make good flour and all the wheat ground in the Edmonton mill is brought up from the main line of the C. P. R." The Mail reports them as saying that "wheat growing cannot be made a success in that section as there are heavy frosts every month in the summer, and the freights on all the natural products of that country to the markets are so heavy as to leave no margin of profit for producers." The Mail proceeds to give a long lecture on the mistake farmers make in settling so far from a market. There is no doubt that the prominence given to the assertions detrimental to this region by the Tribune and the comments of the less widely read Mail, are made with the highly patriotic view of checking the tide of immigration to Alberta. The Tribune does not give equal prominence to the remarks of every tenderfoot who fails to find in Winnipeg mud the dollars he expected. The Mail's argument as to a market would have been more pointed had it been able to show that when these travellers reached Brandon they became so enamoured of its marketing facilities that they settled right there. Unfortunately for that argument they did not stop, but moved right on. It would perhaps be unfair to charge the emigrants with the use of the language attributed to them by the two papers. Having a point to make it is quite probable that they did not stick at trifles in making it, and that some of the reasons given were the product of the brain of the intelligent reporter, working along the line of thought suggested by the objections which he had frequently read and heard to the rush to Edmonton. In the first place the BULLETIN has every reason to believe that no families of the names and answering the descriptions given left Edmonton or any part of the Edmonton district proper this season. That they may have left some part of the country settling up so rapidly along the railway line from Olds to Edmonton is quite possible. But to say so would not suit the purpose of the papers. Edmonton is the chief objective point of the westward immigration, therefore these people must be started from Edmonton although they may have started from a point 150 miles away from it. The assertion that the Edmonton mill grinds only imported wheat is such a plain falsehood that had the Tribune which published it considered for an instant it would not have done so. The only Edmonton mill on the railway line ground over 12,000 bushels of Edmonton wheat last season, and the three other mills in the district ground more than an equal amount. How can people who came in the fall of '93 and left in the spring of '94 know of their own knowledge that the seasons are too short or that there is frost every month in the year. If crops cannot be raised on account of frost or for any other reason, what difference whether prices, or freight rates are low or high. Prices of produce and rates of freight are only interesting in a region where crops are grown, as they cannot be where there is frost every month in the year. The case has been made too strong to accord with possible to say nothing of actual facts. Another model statement is that "a great many are leaving the country and others remain because they cannot get out." No doubt the lynx eyed journalists have kept a sharp look out for such cases as they have discovered, and would have mentioned them had they been found. The fact that out of the thousands who have come to Northern Alberta within the past two years so few have gone back is as good proof of the goodness of the country as reasonable people need. It would be strange indeed if every person who came to this country were suited with it. The world would only be inhabited in spots if people were built that way. There is no objection to people who are not suited with this district getting out of it, and the sooner the better; but there is every objection to lying reasons for their going out being published as facts by papers which are supposed to be in the business of advancing the interests of the country.

The cotton mills at Hamilton, Ontario will be closed for two months, beginning July 13. Five hundred hands will in consequence be thrown out of employment. On the re-opening of the mills a reduced scale of wages will be put in force.

CRIMINAL LIBEL.

On Tuesday forenoon last before G. W. Sutter, J. P. Andrew Milne was charged that he "did unlawfully, without legal justification or excuse publish a defamatory libel of and concerning one Harry Wilson, J. P. likely to injure his reputation by exposing him to hatred contempt and ridicule or designed to insult him, in the form of a letter in the issue of the Edmonton BULLETIN, a public newspaper published on the 15th day of June 1894, at the town of Edmonton, containing divers false and defamatory matters and things of and concerning said H. Wilson, J. P. in the words and according to the tenor and effect following that is to say in the letter of 'Man's inhumanity to man', importing thereby that the said Harry Wilson, J. P. acted improperly in his office as one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace and committed or assisted to commit to prison one Henri Apoux, without reason or excuse, and for a crime or upon a charge of which he was not guilty, and that said Harry Wilson, J. P. acted in an inhuman manner, unworthy of a civilized country, thereby causing or accelerating the death of the said Henri Apoux."

Mervyn Mackenzie appeared for the prosecution and S. S. Taylor, for the defence. Court was held in the police barracks, Edmonton.

Frank Oliver was the first witness called. Am proprietor and publisher of the Edmonton BULLETIN; identify copy of paper of June 15th as one that was published in the ordinary course; (copy marked exhibit A) am not the writer of the article entitled "human"; have the original copy of the article as published, (copy produced and marked exhibit B); saw a letter which I believed accompanied the copy, have not that letter now; have searched carefully for it but have been unable to find it; it has probably been destroyed; there are places in which it might be that I have not searched; Mr. Round was in charge of the office at the time the letter was received; do not know the handwriting.

Cross-examined by Mr. Taylor. Have seen a boy on the street whom I understood was Apoux, but could not swear positively; he was accompanied by a man whom I believed to be his father. Some person—Mr. Prince I think—asked me for them if I could give them work on the new building I was about to erect; did not speak to them directly; I could not speak French and I understood they could not speak English; was not at the office when the letter was brought in; had been absent from town for two weeks; returned home Sunday evening, was in the office more or less on Monday, but did not take over the management of the paper until Tuesday the 10th. Saw the copy of the letter on the printer's case on Monday but did not read it; said I said that it related to something that I did not know about and supposed it was all right; did not see a local relating to the conviction of Apoux; a former issue; have been a publisher ever since 1880; am a member of the Northwest Assembly; believe that I have been in public life in this district longer than any other person at present residing here; in my capacity as publisher and representative I necessarily concern myself with matters relating to the public good, whether they be public or private, so long as they concern the public; criticize the actions of people with a view of promoting the public good. Question—"If it be true that Henri Apoux was not a vagrant within the meaning set out in sections 207 and 208 of the criminal code but was committed and sentenced as such by Col. Jarvis and H. Wilson as J. P.'s do you think that it is in the public interest that their action should be criticized in the public press."

Mr. Mackenzie objected. Objection overruled.

Answer—"Yes."

Question—"If it be true, as stated in the former question, do you think that their conduct is relevant to any subject of public interest, the public discussion of which is for the public benefit."

Mr. Mackenzie objected. Objection overruled.

Answer—"Yes."

Question—"Do you consider that if the article applies to Col. Jarvis and H. Wilson, J. P.'s it is a fair comment upon their public conduct in the matter referred to?"

Mr. Mackenzie objected. Objection sustained.

Consider that the article applies to the case at large rather than to any particular persons connected with the case; have known Col. Jarvis since 1877; he has been a J. P. for many years, and has dealt with a large number of cases; have only known Mr. Wilson for a short time.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN ALBERTA.

In talking over affairs affecting the welfare of the settlers of Northern Alberta, a sensible idea was propounded by an old and well known settler, namely: With reference to the making away with the most valuable timber off C. P. R. lands without permits—his idea is for the government to take possession of all the timber on said lands, and when C. P. Railway lands are sold, which have been cleared of the timber, for the government to grant the purchaser a free permit of any government land. As things are going at present all the valuable timber is either being cut, or destroyed on C. P. R. land and a few are getting the benefit. Certainly something should be done, and that without delay.

Another thing which is causing a lot of dissatisfaction is the wretched state into which our main travelled roads are falling. Fences and and plunging going on every here and there, until no one knows when, or where, or how they are to proceed. It is simply a disgrace to the whole country. If the settlers are to be allowed to close all the old main trails, let the Northwest government immediately go to work and open up the regular road allowances and not have the present yoke put on all travel.

Tenders are called for the erection of a new school house here. The plan shows a neat frame structure, which will be a credit to the place.

In addition to the above, there are five other new buildings to be commenced in a few days, so that the building boom which set in last fall, still continues.

A meeting of the agricultural society has been called for Saturday next, to consider the question of erecting a roller process mill. With the magnificent wheat growing country surrounding the town it is considered a good opening.

July 16th, 1894.

WETASKIWIN.

The contract for the erection of the new school house has been given to J. H. Graham for $2,081. The building is to be completed before the first November.

The Duhamel Creamery is being worked by T. Ingram, and is doing well. Several tons of butter have been shipped to the coast.

Before Mr. Douglas, J. P., of Leduc, M. Lambert was summoned by Samuel Duard for an assault. Duard alleged that Lambert knocked him down and put out his shoulder. After hearing several witnesses the charge was dismissed. H. C. Lisle barrister, appeared for Lambert.

GENERAL NEWS.

Cholera is spreading rapidly in St. Petersburg, Russia.

The black death is still raging in China. Up to June 17th the number of deaths in Hong Kong was 1,879.

The daily Nor'Wester of July 14th, is accompanied by a beautifully illustrated supplement devoted to the town of Selkirk, at one time expected to be the rival of Winnipeg.

Calgary Herald: A man named Walter Ramarge was drowned in the Kootenay river last week while on his way from Dupuyer Creek, Montana, to the Edmonton country. Ramarge originally came from Owen Sound.

The Northwest Territories Gazette of July 16th contains authorization of Stony Plain school district to borrow $300 to build and furnish a school house. Also authority for Notre Dame de Lourdes school district to borrow $500 for the same purpose. Also authority for Battle river public school district to borrow $500 for the same purpose.

Vancouver Business Review, July 2, 1894. Business has improved in the past week, no doubt the perfect weather and the summer holidays have something to do with it; collections, however, are somewhat easier. There are at present few idle men in the province, except those who prefer that life. This is due to building operations, public works and railroad construction. There is still a fleet of vessels loading lumber. The Hastings mill is running night and day and the Moodyville mill full time. Reports come from the interior that active mining operations are in progress, particularly among the hydraulic mines;

The annual meeting of the Hudson's Bay Company took place in London England on July 16th. The accounts show £75,000 available for dividend. Out of this a dividend of ten shillings per share was declared, absorbing £50,000 and leaving £25,000 to be carried forward. From the report to the shareholders it appears that there was a heavy decline in the prices realized for the furs sold in London in the early part of this year. Notwithstanding the prevailing depression, however, the sales-shops business has steadily improved and is giving satisfactory results. The receipts from the land department were less than the previous year, the principal decrease being in farm lands, owing to the general conditions applying, but the sale of lots in Winnipeg was stated to have made the results of the land department better than it otherwise would have been. The concluding part of the report states that to the economies which have been recently enforced in all branches of the service the profits now shown are in a large measure due.

Winnipeg Commercial, July 7th: The weather has continued favorable for the crops, and reports from the country are more hopeful. The harvest, from present indications, will be early, which is a favorable feature. Some late sown grain however, is very backward. This is mostly barley and oats, which were sown too late to benefit by the early spring rains, and the seed lay dormant in the ground during the dry weather of the latter part of May and part of June. These late crops are now coming on rapidly, and with favorable weather they will ripen before frost comes. Summarized reports from thirty-six South Dakota counties, received at the United States Weather Bureau in this city for the week ending Tuesday, give crop conditions up to yesterday as follows: Late sown wheat and wheat on corn stalk ground shows decided improvement generally, but there is considerable wheat, oats and barley in most localities east of Missouri river that it appears cannot be sufficiently recuscitated to be of much value. Corn and potatoes show marked improvement and bid fair to be good crops, with favorable weather from now on. In most localities wheat and oats are heading out very short, mostly of the main stem, the "stool" having been permanently injured by the drouth. On general average, the wheat, oats, barley and hay prospect appears to be unfavorable, while corn, potatoes, late flax and millet promise well.

The London correspondent of Fur Trade Review, writing on June 12, says: "As expected, the June sales caused very little change in prices, as bear, opossum, skunk and mink sold at about March prices. The excessively large offering of racoon and musquash forced the articles fifteen per cent. down.

Prince Albert Times July 13th: On account of the unprecedented spell of hot dry weather that had prevailed for some weeks, fears were entertained that the crops would materially suffer in consequence; but fortunately these fears have been dispelled by the copious rains which fell on Tuesday and Wednesday. This rain has completely soaked the ground so that the crops look amazingly well, and the prospects for an abundant harvest are very flattering. So far as we learn from the outlying districts, the crops are looking well and very far advanced. This rain is opportune at this time and it is believed that an abundant harvest is fully anticipated. The root crops are looking magnificent and taken as a whole the season's outlook for the agriculturists of the Saskatchewan district was never more promising.

SENECA ROOT.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

DEAR SIR: For a number of years past Manitoba has exported a large amount of Seneca or Snake root and stands well to the front as a supplier of that drug. Indians, half-breeds and many white people find remunerative employment in gathering it. As Manitoba contains such quantities of it, and by this issue of your BULLETIN I notice that Battleford has started to do something in the way of exporting it, why not Edmonton district come in for its share, as there is not a doubt but that the root grows here, having found it myself, but do not know whether it exist in paying quantities.

The Indians here know it as a valuable expectorant and say that it grows very thickly in certain localities. The root grows on the edges of marshes in willow swamps, besides in the open field. The sample I found would compare favorably with the ordinary commercial root. Reports have been brought in to me at different times that a good deal exists between here and the Athabasca Landing, and I think an effort should be made to start the industry here of digging it. It is a short root, and as I said before Manitoba sends large quantities into the market, the largest buyers being in St. Paul, Minn., but Germany receives a good deal of the Manitoba Seneca and I suppose the great bulk goes to New York and London. The fur buyers seem to be the men that handle more than the druggists at first hands.

Now is I believe the best time to gather the root. It should be well cleaned and bright—cleaned by washing and finally sun dried. It brings in the market an average of 25c per pound. I can procure some samples should any of your readers desire to prospect for paying quantities. Thinking you for space, etc.

Yours very truly

P. DALY.

The following description of the plant and root may be of use to persons desirous of searching for it. It has a perennial branching root, from which several smooth round leafy stems annually rise from nine inches to a foot in height. The stems are generally tinged with red or purple below, but are green near the top, and the leaves are alternate or scattered, lance shaped, smooth, bright green on the upper surface and pale beneath, and are supported on very short foot stalks. The flower consists of five leaflets, two of which are wing shaped, white and larger than the others, the corolla is small and closed, the capsules are small and much compressed, two valued and two celled with two oblong blackish seeds.

His important visit is in connection with the interests of the church among the new settlements of the whites and the religious work with the halfbreeds and the Indians of this part of the country. He has performed already the duties of his official visit at Calgary, MacLeod, Belly river and British Columbia. The visitors have been received by the population of St. Albert with a grand demonstration of respect and gratitude, expressed in addresses in French and English. The brass band, under the able direction of Mr. Varin, played the best parts of their repertoire. The visitors intend to leave on Tuesday for Winnipeg and St. Boniface. The religious order of the Oblates has very large and important missions all over Canada, United States, England, Ceylon and South Africa. This order, which, in its object and ministry resembles a good deal the Jesuits and Redemptorists, and was approved some 60 years ago by the Pope, Leo XII took for motto: "Pauperes evangelizantur." "The gospel is preached to the poor."—Communicated.

Broadview Sentinel: The remarks made at Grenfell on Saturday by Mr. McKay of Indian Head Experimental Farm, are far from reassuring. Living in a grain growing district, and with the means of obtaining full and accurate information, Mr. McKay says: "We must quit what growing and go into something else." He does not mean that wheat must be cast altogether aside, but that its production is so precarious as to make it unsafe for a farmer to rely chiefly upon it for a livelihood.

P. HEIMINCK & CO. SPEAK OF IT.

To the Editor of the BULLETIN.

Will you kindly allow me space to make a few remarks about my course of action in regard to the opening of McDougall street.

As you seem to be most industriously circulated that I Philip Heiminck am acting the "dog in the manger," and trying to bulldoze the town.

Now, Mr. Editor, what are the facts? In May '93 Mr. S. S. Taylor wrote the mayor offering Taylor of way across the Mission property, and saying that he had not authority to speak for David McDougall, but was quite sure that David McDougall would give half a street in the rear of lot 1, river lot 3, and would write Mr. McDougall in regard to the matter. Mr. Taylor then saw the various parties, including those acting for the town, and wrote Mr. McDougall, saying, "The town council have expressed their willingness to continue McDougall street through to the brow of the hill on the south side of Jasper avenue and to expropriate the lot that Mayor McCauley owned, but was sold to another party, and lot 1, river lot 3. They say they will do this if you will give a free right of way 50 feet wide from the back of lot 1 to the brow of the hill, as it comes up the hill. As to the property Mr. McCauley owns, he is willing to grant a right of way up to his house or as far as his land goes, free. This then will make a good street."

Mr. McDougall made his reply upon which the council and especially the mayor lay so much stress, and said, "I am willing to do what is right and fair, and will consent to right of way as foot of hill and also 'at top of hill and also give fifty feet from the back of lot 1 south of Jasper avenue to the trail above mentioned as right of way at top of hill. Provided, that the town of Edmonton opens and continues McDougall street to the aforementioned trail; and that the town also pays all expenses of survey, transfer, etc., connection therewith."

Then comes a period of inactivity (while the mountain is laboring to bring forth a mouse) until after being poked up by Mr. Taylor several times the council, at the meeting of the 14th May, 1894, on March 1894, saying: "With respect to your offer on behalf of the Methodist Church and David McDougall originally made by letter and verbally repeated at the meeting of the 14th May, 1894, on 21st February last, I am instructed to inform you that the council accepts the offer and have had a survey and plan made by Mr. Chalmers of the proposed extension of McDougall street and have concluded arrangements for the purchase of lot 1, 'River lot 3 (Hubert) and the easterly 10 feet of lot 'A', river lot 6 (Byrnes) and will at once open the street according to Mr. Chalmers' plan. Mr. Taylor replies to this under date 12th March '94, saying: 'I do not think you will find anything in my letters or in my remarks that can justify you opening up this street in the manner that you claim 'in your letter.'"

Just at this time we were appointed agents of the McDougall estate and wrote the town clerk, free of that fact and objecting to their opening McDougall street according to the Chalmers plan, and further expressing our willingness to confer with a committee to try to arrange the matter.

Then about three weeks later, on 14th May, and after several conferences with the committee and various councillors, we made the town an offer as follows: "We were willing to go to the extent of 'charge, the right of way in the rear of lot 1, 50 feet 'along the west line of the McDougall estate to intersect with College avenue, also the right of way 50 feet wide along the back of the hill, so as to extend College avenue to the west line of the lot 'occupied by John Cameron's new store and thence 'northerly to within about 150 feet of Jasper avenue, 'to the lot, but only in consideration of the fact that 'opening up McDougall street from Jasper avenue 'to intersect with College avenue not less than 60 feet wide, also that the town open up the continuation of College avenue, from the point at which 'mentioned to Jasper avenue, between John 'Cameron's new store and P. Daly's property, having a width on Jasper avenue of about 50 feet and a depth of about 150 feet, so as to connect College 'avenue with Jasper avenue, the town to pay 'for survey and such transfers as they may deem it advisable to have, subject however to the approval 'of our solicitors."

Then on the 14th May the town clerk advised P. Heiminck & Co. with whom the town is then dealing, that their letter is laid on the table pending a full meeting; but the very same day he wrote to David McDougall, sending him copies of a number of letters and endeavoring to bulldoze him by enclosing a copy of Councillor McDougall's notice of motion about Scotland street, and writing up his letter as follows: "The result of all this is that notice has 'been given to bring in a motion at the next meeting of the council, a copy of which is enclosed, '(No. 15) which will be likely to block all possibility 'of the opening up of this street to the benefit 'of your property."

"I should be glad to hear from you per return as 'matter will be decided at the next regular meeting 'of the council, which will be held on the 27th inst. 'This letter Mr. McDougall sent to P. Heiminck & Co. to reply to. We did so, telling them that we had our offer and to accept or reject it. Then again the table came in and we were informed on the 26th June that our letter was on it for two weeks. We wrote again insisting upon an immediate answer and withdrawing that part of our offer referring to McDougall street. Then came the meeting of the council at which when two members were absent the matter was decided by the majority of the council, although the council was so anxious for a full meeting on the 14th May. Afterwards came the deluge public meeting.

Now Mr. Editor, just a few words. In the face of the above facts where have P. Heiminck & Co. been acting "the dog in the manger," and trying to bulldoze the town? The simple fact is they backed up Mr. Taylor's objections to the Chalmers plan where by the council proposed cutting up Mr. McDougall's property into gores and making the street 60 feet wide, and not in a straight line so the Chalmers offer set out in Mr. Taylor's letter to Mr. McDougall. Again we wished to have the old trail along the brow of the hill straightened and connected with Jasper avenue at Cameron's store. That is all we wanted. But because P. Heiminck & Co. do their duty to outsiders whose property they have the management of, instead of allowing those interests to be sacrificed and their property to be made ducks and drakes of, they are everything that is bad, the source of all trouble, in fact the very devil himself.

We intended, Mr. Editor, to go fully into the "old trail" business, but do not wish to take up your valuable space, so will simply say, if the old trail is a public road, "Why extend McDougall street at all?" and "If it is a public road through the McDougall estate it is a public road through the Methodist mission and Hudson's Bay Company's properties; and what becomes of John Cameron's new store, the front of Mr. McDougall's house, the shops and the Methodist church, the Salvation Army barracks and Councillor McDougall's vegetable garden?" Not one word, Mr. Editor, was heard of old trails until Mayor McCauley in a moment of weakness gave the secret away at the public meeting and put the newspapers on the scent. It makes an awful lot of difference whose ox is gone on and what issue and for the goose is in this case not to be sauce for the gander.

Apologizing for occupying so much of your valuable space,

We are, Yours respectfully,

P. HEIMINCK & CO.
